

ManTech Names Kelly Miller VP of Program Operations – Defense Sector

HERNDON, VA, JANUARY 8, 2025 – ManTech, a leading provider of AI and mission-focused technology solutions, has promoted Kelly Miller to be Vice President of Program Operations for the company’s Defense Sector.

“Kelly Miller has proven performance in Program Operations and Performance oversight that deliver outstanding mission results for our clients,” said David Hathaway, General Manager and President of ManTech’s Defense Sector. “She supports all our DoD clients and is available round-the-clock to continuously improve advanced technology solutions specifically honed to meet each mission’s requirements.”

In conjunction with her new role, Miller will continue to oversee the company’s Defense Information Systems Agency (DISA) Portfolio, responsible for our current work with that agency and growing the business with DISA and other “Fourth Estate” agencies that are not part of U.S. DoD military branches.

A seven-year veteran of ManTech, Miller first ran large enterprise IT programs for the company’s Intelligence Community clients, then became Executive Director of ManTech’s DISA Portfolio, which grew to include other DoD agencies.

Miller holds a BA degree in Communications from Shippensburg University and has studied Business Marketing at Johns Hopkins Carey Business School.
